WATER RATES REDUCED.

At a conference held Wednesday night between the Directors of the Hondo Chamber of Commerce and representatives of the Company owning the Hondo Water Works, the Company offered to furnish water at the following rates for the winter months:

Minimum charge $2.50 up to 5,000 gallons; next 3,000 gallons, 50c per thousand; next 2,000 gallons, 35c per thousand; all over first 10,000 gallons, 20c per thousand.

All these prices are subject to 10 per cent discount if paid by the 10th of the month.

This is a very material reduction over former rates and were accepted as satisfactory by interested parties. The injunction recently granted restraining the company from discrimination will be dissolved at once.

In addition to this agreement on present rates, the Company's representatives promised to work out a system by the advent of summer whereby the rates will be still further reduced on all water in excess of the normal amount used by consumers.

This amicable adjustment of the differences between the Water Company and the complaining citizens of the town is good news to all, as it means an adequate supply of water for all purposes at reasonable rates and the existence of a feeling of good-will that will redound to the benefit of both the town and the company.

The gentlemen representing the Chamber of Commerce and the complaining citizens are to be congratulated on having brought the matter to this early and satisfactory adjustment and are due the thanks of the entire town.

AS THE M. E. VIEWS IT.

The petition for another election to determine whether or not Hondo shall incorporate under the commission form of government has been circulated and the petition may have been granted by the time this paper reaches its readers.

With all due respect for the opinions of those who do not agree with us, and regardless of whether the proposition carries or is defeated for the third time, we do not think the movement at this time is well advised or will redound to the best interests of the town.

Those with sufficient calmness left to think rationally will not do but agree that a progressive movement to attain that success that justifies the effort to change must carry such a preponderance of sentiment in its favor as to reduce dissension to the minimum and unite the community in support of the measures planned to be adopted and the efforts of the men upon whom the burden of initiating and carrying out those measures shall devolve.

As presented in the late election the issue commanded no such support; being presented so soon and in exactly the same form where is there rational hope for a united community?

We may try to persuade ourselves differently all we wish, but the logic of facts points to the conclusion that soon or late Hondo—maintaining her present size or advancing—must have an adequate sewer system. When that time is reached there will be no room or time for anything but united action and our resources are going to be taxed to the utmost to meet the crisis.

But that crisis is not now; or if it is, as we understand them, it is no part of the purpose of the proponents of incorporation to meet or anticipate it at this time.

There is certainly no other crisis facing the town at this time, especially in view of the fact that the differences with the water company are adjusted and cheaper water is assured.

Of course, another crisis than that of sanitation may arise at any time; but until it does, and in view of the division at the present time among our people, wisdom would seem to dictate deferring the matter until it can at least be presented on a new issue—an issue that would tend to unite our people in common purpose to answer a common need and not divide them still further.

It would certainly make the way of accomplishment easier on those who must pioneer in the city's management.

Of course, with the power to raise property assessments above the level now fixed for state and county purposes and to issue warrants thereunder, financial difficulties might be the least of their trouble, but is it wise or just to spend the people's money that way for anything save that which is absolutely necessary? And can it be done without still further intensifying dissension rather than uniting the people?

And without spending more money we can not have more in the way of cool.

HON. CARLOS G. WATSON.

Honorable Carlos G. Watson of Brownsville, Texas, Republican nominee for Congress from this 15th Congressional District, will speak at Hondo, Texas, Saturday, October 25, at 2 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce Hall.

THE COMING ELECTION.

On an inside page will be found reprinted in full under the caption of "Sample Ballot" the official ballot as it will be voted in Hondo Justice of the Peace precinct at the forthcoming general election in November.

The general form of the ballot is familiar to all who have voted at recent general elections, and the voter who wishes to vote either a straight Democratic, Republican, Socialist or Communist ticket can do so easily by simply scratching the other three.

When it comes to voting for county and precinct officers they will be found in the column headed Independent. Here there are only three contested places, County Assessor—where the voter must scratch two names in order to make his vote count for the other,—County Treasurer—where he must scratch one,—and County Commissioner. Unless you scratch all but one wherever there is a contest your vote will not count for either in that contest—so watch out for your choice.

Should you want to vote for some one whose name is not printed on the ticket—for instance a Constable in precinct 1—the name should be written under the proper line in the blank column on the extreme right of the ticket as you hold it in front of you.

At the bottom of the ballot are a number of amendments. You should scratch either For or Against in each case as you wish to vote—scratching Against and leaving For if in favor of the amendment; scratching For and leaving Against if opposed to it.

Preserve this copy of the paper, show it to your friends and help all to understand how to prepare it, but do not take the Sample printed in this paper or any other written or printed memorandum with you to the polls when you go to vote.

city improvements, and we are merely deceiving ourselves when we think otherwise.

This much by making our position clear and voicing our calm, dispassionate judgment of the matter as it stands at the present moment for the benefit of those who care to know whether agreeing with us or whether carrying their disagreement to the extent of believing their professions of town loyalty by boycotting a home town enterprise for the sake of its manager's opinions.

In the meantime, the columns of this paper are open to any one to any reasonable extent for a reasonable discussion of the issues involved in equal fairness to all no matter from what standpoint you wish to approach them.

A meritorious proposition presented in open fairness has nothing to fear from an open forum. These columns are at your disposal if you care to use them.

It began raining at an early hour Thursday morning, and continued throughout the greater part of the day. The rain fell gently and amounted to only about an inch but it gave the ground a good soaking. The clouds cleared away during Thursday night and Friday begins clear and cool.

Arcos Case Being Heard

ARGUMENTS BEING MADE IN
LUZ G. ARCOS SANITY
TRIAL AS WE GO TO PRESS.

Lawyers representing Luz G. Arcos in a sanity hearing to determine whether or not he has become insane since his conviction for the killing of Joe Barrientes on Christmas night, 1928, closed their rebuttal testimony at the hour of recessing Thursday night.

At the reconvening of court at nine o'clock this (Friday) morning the lawyers will make their arguments and the case will go to the jury some time during the day after having engaged the attention of the court since Tuesday morning.

Pursuant to an order issued by District Judge L. J. Brucks on October 11, there came on to be held a special term of the District Court in and for the County of Medina, State of Texas, at the Courthouse of said County, on Saturday, the 18th day of October, A. D. 1930, at 10 o'clock A. M.

Present and presiding, Hon. L. J. Brucks, Judge of the 38th Judicial District; C. J. Schuehle, Sheriff; and Emil Britsch, District Clerk, when the following proceeding were had, to-wit:

Saturday, October 18, A. D. 1930; on this day the court being of the opinion that Petit Jurors should be drawn for service, it was ordered that Joe Ney and Paul Reinhart and G. D. Whitfield be and are hereby appointed as Jury Commissioners to select the names of fifty persons to serve as petit jurors for the first week of this term.

And the said Joe Ney and Paul Reinhart and G. D. Whitfield having been summoned and appeared before the court and having been tested as to their qualifications and found qualified, were thereupon duly sworn and instructed as to their duties, and afterward on the same day returned into open court the list of the petit jurors selected and drawn by them, which list was received by the Court and delivered to the Clerk with instructions to open said list forthwith and to issue proper venire facias directing the Sheriff to summon the jurors so selected and drawn and therein named: the persons selected and drawn as petit jurors for the first week of this term to appear on Monday, the 20th day of October, A. D. 1930, at 10 o'clock A. M.

On the 20th day of October, A. D. 1930, the Sheriff returned into open court the list of the Petit Jurors heretofore drawn by the Jury Commission at this Special October Term, 1930, of the District Court of Medina County, Texas, to serve during the first week of the present Special October Term of this Court, when the following named persons appeared and answered to their names, to-wit:

Paul Jungman, A. H. Oefinger, W. O. Rothe, Joe Naegelin, Hy. Walter, Chas. Lindeberg, J. Hy. Riff, F. J. Monier, J. L. Moore, Paul Poerner, J. A. Clements, Aug. Saathoff, Geo. Schott, Aug. Koch, Nick Fohn, R. J. Mangold, Joe Bendele, Wm. Finger, Phil Nixon, Eug. Mangold, E. L. Beene, Frank Wolff, Martin Nester, Louis Carle, Jr., I. F. Aten, Fritz D. Neuman, H. M. McLain, Ernest Mumme, Fred Rock, L. R. Neuman, D. G. Mann, E. A. Rothe, Emil Pressler, Louis Mehr, Jim Barron, Ed. H. Moehring, Willie Oppelt, P. D. McAnelly, Wm. Weynand, A. J. Rohlf, Rudolph Baby, Bert Bendele, Howard Mangold, F. F. Mumme, A. J. Leinweber, Arthur Poerner, the before mentioned 46 persons were thereupon duly sworn to answer touching their qualifications, and being found qualified, they were duly sworn in as Jurors and ordered to be entered on record as the Panel of the First Week of this Special October Term, 1930, of this Court.

When cause No. 2919, Ex-Parte Luz G. Arcos, charged with insanity, following the empaneling of the above jury for the special term, lawyers asked for a postponement until Tuesday morning for the purpose of conferring with witnesses. Tuesday was spent in selecting a jury, the entire venire of fifty men being exhausted before a jury was qualified. Late Tuesday evening the jury was completed, the following being its personnel:

Arthur Poerner, Joe Bendele, F. J. Monier, Paul Poerner, Chas. Lindeberg, E. L. Beene, Joe Naegelin, Martin Nester, Willie Oppelt, Ed. H. Moehring, Bert Bendele and Phil Nixon.

Wednesday was spent in hearing witnesses for the defense, closing late in the day.

First witnesses for Arcos were his two brothers, Vicente and Simon, also his wife and his mother, all of whom recited incidents in the defendant's life tending to show that he was mentally unbalanced.

Dr. H. J. Meyer of Hondo and Dr. Douglas Largen of San Antonio testified for the defense, declaring that from their observation of the man they were of the opinion that he was insane.

Tom S. Donoghue, county jailer of San Antonio, also his assistant, Tony Morin, and Deputy Sheriff Gene Brasher also testified, expressing the opinion that Arcos was a mental case.

The state's attorneys took the case Thursday morning and began the hearing of evidence from the state's witnesses. A considerable array of witnesses were heard, and about 2:30 P. M. the state rested. The defense then began its rebuttal testimony.

R. E. Allen, superintendent of buildings at the penitentiary said that he had occasion to observe Arcos and that the man did not show any signs of insanity at the prison.

Horace Coon, a prison steward, testified that Arcos called him on the evening before the defendant was to be executed and dictated a telegram to a person in Hondo in which he asked for $200. Coon testified that after receiving his first reprieve from Gov. Dan Moody, Arcos changed his actions, became mute and seemed to be brooding.

W. W. Wade, warden of Huntsville penitentiary, said that in his opinion he believed Arcos knew right from wrong.

Dr. M. H. Judd, prison physician, testified that he examined Arcos on two occasions. He believed Arcos knew right from wrong and realized the import of his sentence.

Sheriff Charles Schuehle testified that he had known Arcos many years and he had a lengthy conversation with him the day before Arcos execution was scheduled to take place. He said the man seemed rational and sane.

Dr. W. H. Smith of Hondo, health officer of Medina County, said he had examined the man and in his opinion Arcos was sane.

J. B. Dawson, jailer, testified that he believed Arcos knew right from wrong.

W. J. Johnson of San Antonio State hospital, could not state whether Arcos was sane or insane, saying that it required several days to make the proper diagnosis.

Dr. Brymer of Castroville was of the opinion that the defendant does not know right from wrong.

Arcos was brought here Saturday from Austin, where he had been under the observation of experts in mental diseases for several days, and again lodged in the Medina County jail by penitentiary guards Horace Coon, W. W. Wade and R. E. L. Allen. Arcos is represented in the hearing by Manuel C. Gonzales, Dave Waston and Will Morris, attorneys of San Antonio. The state is represented by District Attorney K. K. Woodley of Sabinal and D. C. Brown of Devine, and every point is being strongly contested on both sides.

WORK won't wait for a headache to wear off. Don't look for sympathy at such times, but get some Bayer Aspirin. It never fails.

Don't be a chronic sufferer from headaches, or any other pain. See a doctor and get at the cause. Meantime, don't play martyr. There's always quick comfort in Bayer Aspirin. It never does any harm. Isn't it foolish to suffer any needless pain? It may be only a simple headache, or it may be neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatism. Lumbago. Bayer Aspirin is still the sensible thing to take. There is hardly any ache or pain these tablets can't relieve; they are a great comfort to women who suffer periodically; they are always to be relied on for breaking up colds.

Buy the box that says Bayer, and has Genuine printed in red. Genuine Bayer Aspirin doesn't depress the heart. All druggists.

ZEN of the Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

Author of "The Cow Puncher," "The Homesteaders," "Neighbors," etc.

CHAPTER XVII

"Zen!"

"How is he—how is Wilson?" she demanded, breathlessly.

"Sound as a bell," he answered, alarmed by her manner. The self-assured Zen was far from self-assured now. "Come, see, he is asleep."

He led her into the whim-room and turned on the lamp. The lad was sleeping soundly, his teddy-bear clasped in his arms, his little pink and white face serene under the magic skies of glumerland. Grant expected that Zen would throw herself upon the child in her agitation, but she did not. She drew her fingers gently across his brow, then, turning to Grant:

"Rather an unceremonious way to break into your house," she said, with a little laugh. "I hope you will pardon me. . . . I was uneasy about Wilson."

"But tell me—how—where did you come from?"

"From town. Let me stand in your kitchen, or somewhere."

"You're wet through. I can't offer you much change."

"Not as wet as when you first met me, Dennison," she said, with a smile. "I have a good waterproof, but my hat blew off. It's somewhere on the road. I couldn't see through the windshield, so I put my head out, and away it went."

"The hat?"

Then both laughed, and an atmosphere that had been tense began to settle back to normal. Grant led her out to the living room, removed her coat, and started a fire.

They sat in silence for some time, and presently they became aware of a gray light displacing the yellow glow from the lamp and the ruddy reflections of the fire. "It is morning," said Grant. "I believe the storm has cleared."

He stood beside her chair and took her hand in his. "Let us watch the dawn break on the mountains," he said, and together they moved to the windows that overlooked the valley and the grim ranges beyond. Already shafts of crimson light were firing the scattered drift of clouds far overhead. . . .

"Dennison," she said at length, turning her face to his, "I hope you will understand, but—I have thought it all over. I have not hidden my heart from you. For the boy's sake, and for your sake, and for the sake of a scrap of paper—that was what the war was over, wasn't it?"

"I know," he whispered. "I know."

"Then you have been thinking, too? . . . I am so glad!" In the growing light he could see the moisture in her bright eyes glisten, and it seemed to him this wild, daring daughter of the hills had never been lovelier than in this moment of confession and of high resolve.

"I am so glad," she repeated, "for your sake—and for my own. Now, again, you are really the Man-on-the-Hill. We have been in the valley of late. You can go ahead now with your high plans, with your Big Idea. You will marry Miss Bruce, and forget."

"I shall remember with chastened memory, but I shall never forget," he said at length. "I shall never forget Zen of the Y. D. And you—what will you do?"

"I have the boy. I did not realize how much I had until tonight. Suddenly it came upon me that he was everything. You won't understand, Dennison, but as we grow older our hearts wrap up around our children with a love quite different from that which expresses itself in marriage. This love gives—gives—gives, lavishly, unselfishly, asking nothing in return."

"I think I understand," he said again. "I think I do."

They turned their eyes to the mountains, and as they looked the first shafts of sunlight fell on the white peaks and set them dazzling like mighty diamond-points against the blue bosom of the West.

"It is morning on the mountains—and on you!" Grant exclaimed. "Zen, you are very, very beautiful." He raised her hand and pressed her fingers to his lips.

As they stood watching the sunlight pour into the valley a sharp knock sounded on the door. "Come," said Dennison, and the next moment it swung open and Phyllis Bruce entered, followed immediately by Linder. A question leapt into her eyes at the remarkable situation which greeted them, and she paused in embarrassment.

"Phyllis!" Grant exclaimed. "You are here!"

"It would seem that I was not expected."

"It is all very simple," Grant explained, with a laugh. "Little Willie Transley was my guest overnight. On account of the storm his mother became alarmed, and drove out from the city early this morning for him. Mrs.

Transley, let me introduce Miss Bruce—Phyllis Bruce, of whom I have told you."

Zen's cordial handshake did more to assure Phyllis than any amount of explanations, and Linder's timely observation that he knew Wilson was there and was wondering about him himself had valuable corroborative effect.

"But now—your explanations?" said Grant. "How comes it, Linder?"

"Simple enough, from our side. When I got your telephone call all I could catch was the fact that you were mighty glad to get me, and had some urgent message for Miss Bruce. Then the connection broke."

"I see. And you, of course, assured Miss Bruce that I was being murdered, or meeting some such happy and effective ending, out here in the wilderness!"

"Not exactly that, but I reported what I could, and Miss Bruce insisted upon coming out at once. The roads were dreadful, but we had daylight. Also, we have a trophy."

Linder went out and returned in a moment with a sadly bedraggled hat.

"My poor hat!" Zen exclaimed. "I lost it on the way."

"It is the best kind of evidence that you had but recently come over the road," said Linder, significantly.

"I think no more evidence need be called," said Phyllis. "May I lay off my things?"

"Certainly—certainly," Grant apologized. "But I must introduce one more exhibit." He handed her the note he had written during the night. "That is the message I wanted Linder to rush to you," he said, and as she read it he saw the color deepen in her cheeks.

"I'm going to make breakfast, Mr. Grant," Zen announced, with a sudden burst of energy. "Everybody keep out of the kitchen."

"Guess I'll feed up for you this morning, old chap," said Linder, knowingly. At the door he glanced back. "I think Miss Bruce has something to say to you," he added, mysteriously.

They were alone—Phyllis and Dennison. He caught her hand in his and led her to the French windows. The sun was filling the valley with a flood of silver, and there was sunshine, too, in the heart of Dennison Grant. He had drunk his cup of renunciation, but he had not dreamed that at the bottom could lie a pearl so beautiful.

"Phyllis—Phyllis," he breathed. He reached out to take her in his arms, but she held him gently away; when he looked in her eyes they shone back at him through tears.

"Phyllis—Phyllis," He Breathed.

"Oh, Denny, you mustn't! I'm so sorry. You know what you have been to me. But you were so long, so long! Yesterday I promised Linder."

A friend from the country—who pays no taxes in Hondo—was in all seriousness Saturday that he favors incorporating Hondo. When he saw we had caught the twinkle in his eye, he explained that then Hondo people would have to keep up their own streets with a city tax while still paying their county road tax, no more county or state road funds would be spent on the streets of Hondo but all such funds—including that paid by the citizens of Hondo to the county on property situated in Hondo—would be spent on the county roads. LIONS NEW PRESIDENT.

The Lions regretted very much to have to accept Lion Smith's resignation from the chairmanship of the Club. Dr. Smith felt that since his professional duties made it impossible for him to attend the meetings regularly, he should tender his resignation. He will remain a member of the Club, and expressed his assurance that he would continue to be interested in and work for Lionism. The vice president, Lion Flynn, was prevailed upon to fill the vacancy.

Father Flynn presided for the first time last Tuesday and proved his competency to fill the position very creditably. In his "maiden speech" he pointed to the great purposes of the Club, upbuilding the community by co-operative efforts on the part of all classes of men in friendly fellowship, regardless of differences in politics and religion, and pleaded for the wholehearted support of each individual member to enable the club to carry out its program. The generous applause accorded him indicated a promise to stand by the new president.

District Attorney Woodley and Attorney Morris of San Antonio, who are attending the court sessions being held in Hondo, were welcome guests at the luncheon. They gave impromptu speeches for the entertainment and enlightenment of the Lions.

MARRIED.

Last Saturday night a very pretty church wedding was solemnized in Bethlehem Lutheran church at Quibi with the pastor, Rev. C. P. Hasskari, officiating. The principals were Mr. George F. Saathoff and Miss Nora L. Schuehle, both from Sturm Hill. Witnesses to the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schulte, Jr., of New Fountain and several friends. Mr. Saathoff, the groom, is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Saathoff of Sturm Hill. He is a young man engaged in farming and stock raising, has an excellent reputation in his home community and evidently is well qualified to make and maintain a good home for his young bride. Miss Schuehle, the bride, is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schuehle, Jr., also of Sturm Hill. She is a highly esteemed young lady and is widely and favorably known in and about Sturm Hill, possessing in a high degree the accomplishments and qualifications so essential in wives in making and keeping the home cheerful and happy. We wish the young couple God speed on their mutual way through life. They will move and live on a farm operated by Mr. Saathoff several miles north of Quibi.

The Card and Bunco Party sponsored by the ladies of St. John's Parish, Thursday night, at the Parochial School was very successful and a neat sum was realized. Quite a large crowd attended from D'Hanis, Castoville, Dunlay, Hondo and other vicinities near here. Bridge, high five and bunco formed the evening's diversion and several valuable prizes were awarded in each of the games. A sale of homemade cakes, coffee and soda water was held in the basement of the school, where at the close of the entertainment numbers were drawn for the awarding of entrance prizes. Everyone reported an enjoyable evening.

HONDO DOWNS LYTLE 40 TO 0

Playing a neat, fast brand of football for the entire game the Hondo Owls defeated the Lytle Pirates 40 to 0 on the high school field Friday, October 17. The recent rains had put the field in A-1 shape and the first real football weather of the year made condition ideal for the Owls to start their come-back campaign.

As the Lytle linemen would back out when on the defense it was impossible to size up the Owls' forward wall, but it could be seen that the Hondo line was charging. The back field played a good game and did some real ball totting. Finger, Taylor and Leinweber giving pretty exhibitions of running and line plunging. Taylor also kicked four out of five tries for extra points.

The Owls made six first downs in the opening quarter but failed to score, because of a pair of costly fumbles. In the second period the Owls put across two touchdowns, kicked an extra point, made seven first downs and messed up a number of Lytle plays in the second canto. The Pirate completed a pass for 20 yards and a first down at the start of the second period, but were set back for a ten-yard loss to a second attempt of the same play. The score at the half was 13 to 0.

In the third period Jones made a 20-yard run for touchdown; Hondo scored on a backward pass that netted 35-yards, Taylor booted two more extra points and the Owls added five more first downs to their collection.

Droitcourt passed to Finger for 25 yards to score the first touchdown in the last period. Taylor scored another touchdown and again kicked goal after the Owls had received and made three first downs on the march for the goal line. Lytle made 35 yards on a pass, but never threatened after that. The game ended with the Owls making another first down.

THE VAGABONDS.

On Friday night, October 17, Gladys Fusselman and Naomi Shoor entertained the Vagabonds at the home of the latter. After several interesting games of bridge, fruit salad, olives, saltines and potato chips were served. Elizabeth Holloway was awarded high prize which was a lovely vanity and lip stick set. Eleanor Heyen received cut prize, a box of handkerchiefs, and Mayme Earnest received a candy "ball and bat" for low. Later in the evening angel food cake and punch were served. Those present were Misses Sue Heatly, Ellen Tweedy, Lela Boyd, Ida Bell Benson, Mayme Earnest, Evelyn Kimmey, Elizabeth Holloway, Eleanor Heyen, Lillian Schroeder, Mary Ruth Cameron, Hedwig Nestor, Frances Finger, Ruby Neuman, Bernice Mofield and the hostesses, Naomi Shoor and Gladys Fusselman.

P. T. A. SPONSORS HOME TALENT PLAY.

There is a rare treat in store for every one who sees the rich comedy, "A Howling Success," put on by 20 prominent business men of Hondo at the Hondo High School Auditorium on Friday night, October 31, at 7:30 P. M., for the benefit of the Hondo Parent Teachers Association. A scream of laughter from start to finish. DON'T MISS IT.

BADGERS PREPARE FOR NEW SEASON.

Baptist Badgers, fast playing independent Hondo basketball team, are preparing for the coming season and plan to have an active year. The team will play at least two games during the Medina County Fair and then discontinue playing until after the football season.

Only three lettermen and a reserve player from last year's team will be with the Badgers this season. A rule that does not permit a player to belong to both the Hondo High School and the Badgers, has removed a number of last year Badgers from the Baptist squad. Glenn Jones and Leo Pettis, fast forwards, Carter Brooks, captain and guard, and Tony Taylor, good utility player, are those who saw service with the Badgers last year and around whom the team will be built this year. The loss of both centers and the lack of experienced recruits to fill this position in the present handicap of the Baptists at present.

During the fair the Badgers will meet Yancey on the 10th and Moore on the 11th. Both games will be fast and interesting. The Baptists will rely on their strong defense to pull them through these matches. The game with Yancey will probably be the first game of the year for the Badgers, but Yancey always has a fast team and will put up a real fight. Moore will bring the same team with a few new players here on the 11th that handed the town team 38 to 18 dubbing last year.

THE BRIDGETTES.

On Saturday afternoon eight of the younger girls met at the home of Mary Ruth Wilson for the purpose of organizing a bridge club. After several hands of bridge were played, a business meeting was held, during which the following officers were elected: president, Bernice Chancey; vice president, Mary Emma Finger; secretary-treasurer, Mary Ruth Wilson; and reporter, Genevieve Brucks. "Bridgettes" was the name selected for the club.

After the business meeting, refreshments consisting of hot tea and cakes were served to the following: Bernice Chancey, Doris Windrow, Bernice Chancey, Mary Emma Finger, Genevieve Taylor, Virginia Ulbrich, Genevieve Brucks and the hostess, Mary Ruth Wilson.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend our thanks to our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved baby, Dorothy Marie; also wish to express sincere thanks for the beautiful flowers at the grave and the words of sympathy spoken at the grave. We specially want to thank Mesdames M. Miller, Walter Mask, Emil Miller and Harry Crouch for their kind assistance and favors shown us during our sad bereavement.

Respectfully,
MR. and MRS. ALFRED BOEHLE.

WINDROW'S INJURY.

Perhaps no gridiron accident in recent years in this district has caused more genuine sorrow among the fans of Uvalde than has the injury sustained by the Owl's flashy little quarterback. Just a few minutes previous to the injury some person who is certainly no sport was heard to yell, "Kill him; break his leg." They did not mean this literally, but as it turned out, when Windrow was injured later there was belief among some of the Hondo fans that the injury was intentional. This writer conferred with referee Soyars regarding this, and he stated that he was, of course, nearby at the time and positively there was no "dirty" work on the part of the Uvalde tacklers. However, such admonitions by some unthoughtful fan sometimes put the team, the coach and the whole school in a bad light. Uvalde fans will be glad to know that reports reached here this week that Windrow's injury was nothing more than a very severe sprain and that the ankle was not broken as at first thought. However, he will be out of the game for the remainder of the year, and inasmuch as this is his senior year he has probably completed his high school career on the gridiron. Regardless of whether he ever dons the moleskins again or not, Don Windrow, captain and quarterback of the 1930 Owl team, will be remembered by all fans in this district as one of the cleanest playing and most sportsmanlike lads that has ever represented any school.

—R. G. Jordan in Uvalde Leader-News.

SOPHIAN CLUB.

The Sophian Club met Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock in the high school auditorium with Miss Willie Dee Fly as leader in the literary discussion. The book of which Miss Fly rendered a very interesting account was Oliver La Farge's "Laughing Boy," an unusually written book, treating solely of the Navajo Indians. A lively contest followed on the author's treatment of the subject. The next session of the club will be October 29, Federation Day, when Mrs. O. B. Taylor will lead the discussion on Wilder's "Bridge of San Luis Rey."

UVALDE BOYS SHOW GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP.

Don Windrow, who was injured in the recent Hondo-Uvalde game, has received a blue and white belt buckle from several Uvalde boys. He appreciates this very much, because of the thoughtfulness it shows. The boys of Uvalde expressed their regrets for Don's accident and wished him a speedy recovery.

This is the proper spirit to show. It speaks well for the team, the school and the town. It shows that Uvalde has some real sports that any school should be proud of.

Miss Martha Berry of Yancey was the week-end guest of Miss Elsie Buss.

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE 77TH REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT.

You have a right, it seems to me, to expect an expression from me concerning the Constitutional Amendments to be voted on at the general election in November, which, if adopted, will make certain changes in your Legislature.

Under our present constitution the Legislature meets biennially in a sixty day regular session and during each two years the Legislature may be called in special sessions. It is my information that, during the past fourteen years, the average number of days that each Legislature has been in session is 137 days for each biennium or a little over four and one half months. I think all who are familiar with the situation will concede that it is impossible for any Legislature, under existing progress and development, to complete its work in any sixty day regular session. Experience, during the past fourteen years, has shown, as above, that an average of more than twice that length of time has been necessary.

Legislative procedure is by bill. The bill is filed with the Clerk, who sends it to proper committee; the committee considers the bill, grants hearings to those who wish to be heard for or against it and then reports the bill either favorably or unfavorably. If favorably reported (or if unfavorably reported but the House should adopt a minority report from the committee) the bill is then printed and a printed copy placed on each member's desk. The bill is then sent to the Speaker (in the Senate to the Lieutenant Governor) who places it on the calendar. The calendar is the order of the day; that is, the memoranda of the different items of business in their order that have come from the committees, and are ready to be considered and acted upon by the House or Senate as the case may be.

Any business that has not been considered during the regular or a special session dies when such session adjourns. In other words, all unfinished business in any new session must again go the same round of being introduced, considered by the committee and reprinted, which involves much waste of time, causes much duplication of effort and unnecessary expense and at the same time when there is no system of bill introduction and committee hearings it causes a rush and a jam in all of this work to the end that many times a committee cannot give as full hearings as they would like to give.

If all the work of the Legislature could be done under one session it would save all duplicated time, effort and expense.

The Constitutional Amendment to be voted on authorizes a regular session of 120 days and makes the regular order of the business as follows: the first thirty days preparation and introduction of the bills; the second thirty days consideration of the bills by the respective committees and the remainder of the session to be devoted to a consideration of the calendar. Further providing, is substance, that if all of the time above specified is not needed for bill introduction or for committee consideration or if an urgent matter should be actually considered by the Legislature during the first and second thirty day periods, the Legislature may, by a four fifths vote, meet those conditions.

This plan, in my judgment, will prevent the usual jam resulting in thousands of bills being introduced, hastily considered by the committees and hastily acted upon by the Legislature and will, in lieu of that, encourage a more deliberative preparation of a bill, a more thorough consideration by the committee and, most important of all, enable any legislator to keep better posted upon the bills that are introduced and keep his constituents more thoroughly informed and enable all those who desire to be heard for or against any bill to have time for that hearing before a committee. It will also enable the press to secure and transmit more complete information to the public at large and in time for those interested to make investigation and be heard as above mentioned.

It is clear to me that under the present system, a legislator can not hope to render as valuable a service as would be possible under the above amendment proposed. It is my judgment that the amendment changing the length of the regular session from 60 to 120 days, enabling a change in procedure as above indicated should, by all means, be adopted. Let me urge each voter to carefully consider and study the above amendment and if there is any question that is not clear, I will be glad to give any further information possible, and, if it is deemed advisable will be glad to further discuss the same any where at any time.

There is another amendment to be voted on separately, raising a legislator's per diem from $5.00 to $10.00 and reducing mileage from 20c per mile to 10c per mile, providing for any time in excess of 120 days in regular session the per diem shall be $5.00 per day. It is generally conceded by those familiar with the present method of procedure that the new method, even with the increased per diem, will save the taxpayer money because of the saving in mileage on the special sessions and the saving of duplicated effort and expense. It is also generally conceded and I know it to be a fact personally that the present pay does not meet actual personal expenses. These facts are not stated in any way as a complaint but merely to state the facts.

The salary amendment is, in my judgment, a matter of much less significance than the time and procedure amendment, and is not a matter which should call for an opinion from me.

Representative 77th District.

Farming Increases in Texas

Everybody knows that Texas cities have been making fine growth the last ten years, for the papers in the cities have been keeping the figures before their readers, but until the census figures were available it was thought that farming was decreasing. The census bureau gives us a gain of 30,360 farms since 1920 and 59,974 since 1920, or a growth of 13.8 per cent in ten years. The number has increased from 436,000 to 496,097. The greatest increase has been in a small group of counties on the western border of the state, where there was but little farming five years ago. Cochise county leads with an increase of 8 per cent in the last five years.

How Cities Have Grown

Twelve American cities in the 50,000 class have increased more than 45 per cent since 1920. Of these four are in Texas: Houston, with a growth of 75.3 per cent; Dallas, 72.6 per cent; San Antonio, 67 per cent; Fort Worth, 45.2 per cent. Cities in the 50,000 class have made an equally good showing. There has been a decrease in the population in Texas, it has been in the small towns that have made little effort at real growth.

Texas Wealth Shown

Reports of the State Comptroller's department indicate that the total wealth of Texas is now more than one and a half billion dollars. The tremendous growth and financial progress of the state is shown in an annual increase of more than three hundred million dollars for the past five years. With the impetus of its vast wealth, to which will undoubtedly be added in 1930 the enthusiasm of a suitable celebration of a century of progress showing the progress of the state's growth, the next ten years will bring the largest development the state has ever had.

Duval County Sulphur

The Texas Duval Sulphur Company, whose sulphur mines are about 20 miles west of Alice on the Texas-Mexico Railway, has received orders for 240 cars of sulphur to be shipped to different states in this country and to Mexico and Europe. It is stated that even if mining operations are conducted as fast as possible there is enough supply of sulphur for Duval county for at least for 20 or 30 years.

Not Finding Times Hard

One of San Antonio's big department stores that uses large advertising space, pays good money to the papers to tell the people that its business in July was 20 per cent better than in June, and that it increased 10 per cent in August and 20 per cent in September. This store is too busy making times good to be worried about hard times.

Where Trade Goes

A subscriber to the Bastrop Advertiser who lives "a little nearer the river than to the other towns," is that, although the Advertiser constantly urging its readers to go to the advertisements and trade home, he also reads Lockhart's Smithville papers and finds that Lockhart paper carries 32 "big advertisements" quoting prices and telling people to come to their stores, the Smithville paper 28 advertisements of the same kind, and the Bastrop paper only 7. Public lead to all these towns. Where would he be expected to trade?

Dilley Doesn't Complain

Dilley is not a big town or shipping center, but it has shipped out 100 cars of corn at 500 to 600 bushels each at an average price of 1.25 cents a bushel, besides many cars of sorghum and maize heads. The country got pretty dry, but copious rains have fallen in time to make a good crop of the sorghum crops and to bring up a grain crop. Sensible diversification will solve farming problems for other places as it is doing at Dilley.

Home Talent Used

The memorial monument to the World War dead of Llano county, erected on the courthouse square and to be unveiled on Armistice day, was designed and executed by Frank H. Smith, sculptor. It included a design of native granite boulders in the design, on which is mounted a bronze statue of a soldier, a stone tablet bearing the names of the county's dead. It is to the credit of the Llano Shakespeare Club that the local sculptor was honored with the design and execution of the work and that local granite was used.

Hard on the Lawyers

Dexter Scurlock, vice-president of the Fort Worth Bar Association told members of the Dallas Junior Bar Association that half of the Dallas lawyers are guilty of malpractice and should be disbarred, alleging that they bring disrespect on the profession. He called them "shysters and balance chasers," and said the old lawyers and big firms are as bad as the young ones. But one wonders if a Fort Worth lawyer is picking Dallas that way.

Fixing Turkey Prices

Although it is reported that the Texas turkey crop will be 10 per cent less than in 1929, the Southwestern Produce Dealers' Association has announced that prices to be paid will be about 10 cents a pound lower than last year. The association fixed grades and prices, dressing season and shipping conditions to suit themselves, if newspaper reports are correct, leaving the growers to accept them or keep their turkeys. It looks to a casual observer like a job has been handed somebody, although the association declared that its purpose is that "Texas turkey raisers (?) and produce men will be able to make a fair profit on the industry." Evidently Texas turkey growers are in need of some kind of a marketing organization of their own.

Increasing Onion Area

It is announced that Kerrville will grow Bermuda onion plants on a commercial scale this winter and that 2,000,000 plants are now growing within four miles of the town. The growers say that soil and climate are favorable to the new industry.

Glass Factory Enlarged

The glass factory at Three Rivers has been closed down for several weeks for extensive improvements. New equipment has been added and the plant remodeled. When it is started again the operatives will work in three shifts to take care of the business. The industry at Three Rivers has been successful from its start several years ago.

Mexico Buys Heavily

The American-made goods shipped through the port at Laredo during September were valued at $2,600,000. This is but one of the many ports through which Mexico imports merchandise, and the figures show that, whatever may be our opinion of Mexican prosperity, that country is buying heavily from other nations and especially from the United States.

Edinburg Creamery

Edinburg doesn't depend on citrus fruits alone, nor upon fruits and vegetables, but expects to have a creamery plant in operation by November 1, established through the co-operation of local dairymen with an experienced creamery man from Michigan.

New Ice Factory

Just as some folks are shuddering in anticipation of the coming winter, it is announced that a new ice factory is to be established at Taylor right away, that town already having one ice plant.

Votes Water Bonds

Thorndale proposes to be ready for the next drought, having just voted a $40,000 bond issue for a municipal water plant. The majority of six votes might have been heavier if the election hadn't been held during the recent Texas floods.

Texas Fair Biggest

The Texas State Fair a few years ago was second in size and attendance to that at Minneapolis, but the Dallas News says it is now the "biggest State fair in the world," and one of the four or five institutions that is doing most for building up Dallas and Texas.

YANCEY NEWS.

How do you like the crisp cool norther that blew up Saturday and continues up to the present time? It is really the first reminder that winter is knocking at our doors.

Sunday being the last day of the conference year, the community attended services at the Methodist church and enjoyed the noon hour by bringing lunch to the tabernacle, enough for every one present. A very sumptuous dinner it was, to which all did ample justice. Fried, stewed and dressed chicken, sausage, roast goat and lamb, salads, pies, cakes, pickles, bread and coffee were served.

Rev. J. H. Estes left early Monday morning for Harlingen, where the annual conference is being held this year. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Newton.

A baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wiemers on October 18. Both mother and child are reported doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Evans of San Antonio were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. Willie Faseler.

Mr. Emil Faseler and family of Poteet were here Sunday visiting their aged mother, Mrs. Faseler, at the home of Mr. J. G. Bohmfalk.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dubose of San Antonio were visitors at the home of Mr. Will Harris and family Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Louis Ward and family of San Antonio spent Sunday here with homefolks.

Miss Lucille Shultz, our Home Economics teacher, took her class to Sabinal to an H. E. demonstration meeting last Saturday.

Miss Dorothy Burgin and Miss Bee Gibson of Sabinal were visitors at the home of Mrs. J. H. Burgin Sunday.

Mrs. Louis Ward left for Wrightsboro some time ago to be with her sister and other girlhood friends for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wiemers and daughter, Miss Agnes, and Miss Agnes Hartman visited their daughters, Mesdames Muennink and Ward, last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Faseler spent several days in San Marcos last week visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bohmfalk of San Antonio were guests of Mr. Henry Faseler and family Sunday.

Miss Martha Berry spent the week-end with Misses Emma and Elsie Buss at Hondo.

Miss Dora Mae Wilson was at home with her parents over the week-end.

YANCEY METHODISTS CELEBRATE.

On Sunday, October 19, 1930, at 2:30 P. M. the Methodist congregation assembled in the church for a short program with Mrs. J. N. Wilson in charge. The object of the meeting was a commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the organization of the Methodist church and Sunday school of Yancey. The first services were held at the home of the parents of Mrs. S. P. Childress and Mr. H. G. Wilson, in a two room log building at lower Tehuacana and the Sunday school was organized April 26, 1880, with Mr. Lee Wilson as the first superintendent. Several years later a log house was built for a church, and as the population of the community increased a larger frame structure was erected opposite the old lower Tehuacana cemetery, where the building was used for school and church until about 1900.

It was decided to move nearer to Yancey and a new building was erected about two miles south of Yancey, which was used only for church purposes. Later this building was moved to Yancey and was converted into the present parsonage, and church was conducted at the school auditorium. After that a tabernacle was built in which services were conducted for about two years or more.

In 1917 a movement was put in operation for the building of a new church and subscriptions were taken up for same, but the war came on and operations were postponed for the time being. In 1923 the congregation got together and again planned the erection of a modern church and Sunday school building and a building committee was elected to supervise the building of the same. On May 2, 1924, the first service was held in the new church; it was only a formal opening as there was still an indebtedness against the same, so it could not be dedicated; however, after six years of hard struggle, during hard years of short crops we have finally reached the stage where the church is free from debt. Owing to the untiring effort and work of a determined force of a board of stewards during all of these years, made it possible to raise the entire debt. Mr. J. C. Newton, the present superintendent of the Sunday school has held this office for upward of 35 years and is still active in the work. The present board of stewards consists of the following members: J. C. Newton, J. W. McCaughan, J. N. Wilson, J. G. Weekly, J. G. Faseler, Geo. Faseler, A. J. Hardt, W. B. Melton and Henry L. Saathoff.

The conclusion of the program consisted of several addresses by Mrs. S. P. Childress, Rev. and Mrs. Estes, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Newton and Mrs. J. P. Nixon.

The entire congregation is rejoicing over the fact that all of the obligations of the church were met in full at this time and Reverend Estes can make a good report at the annual conference.

FOUND AT 71 VERY MEDICINE HE REQUIRED.

Venerable Citizen of San Antonio Tells What Konjola Did in His Stubborn Case.

MR. WILLIAM DAVIS.

"It was nine years ago that I began having trouble with constipation, indigestion, bloating and poor appetite," said Mr. William Davis, 71, of 732 Kayton avenue, San Antonio. "I took several kinds of medicine but nothing did me the good that Konjola did. I had to take laxatives daily and gas and indigestion followed practically every meal. At times the pain was so severe that I could scarcely bear it. My entire system was run down."

"I read so much about Konjola that I decided to give it a trial. I noticed an improvement within three days and in three weeks I felt better than I had in years. I am telling all my friends about Konjola and expect to take it until I am free of all ailments."

Konjola has done as much for thousands when taken regularly over a six to eight week period. It is truly a master medicine for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Hondo, Texas, at W. H. Windrow's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

DANCE

At Castroville

SUNDAY NIGHT, OCT. 26, 1930

Cris and His Seven Columbians

EVERYBODY IS CORDIALLY INVITED

THE FELLOW ON THE BENCH.

From the Owl.

On the bench he gets no glory and none of the credit which is given the winning team, but to those familiar with the workings of a football squad, he is counted as valuable as the next fellow.

If it weren't for the second string man, there would be no one with whom the first team could practice; there would be no reserve material in case of injury; there would be no team gaining experience for the next year; there would be, in fact, no football team. The fellow on the bench is one to be admired for his patience and his determination to stick until that day when he will be sent in as a substitute. Then comes his chance to show his mettle.

Over the line! But in the play another gallant man is injured on the field of battle. Tough luck, yet the game must go on, even without the captain in his helmet. His substitute must fight to the finish without the glory and the fame that are already the battered hero's. From a row of anxious huskies the lucky one is chosen. His opportunity has come, and with it reward for a season's waiting.
